

Aptitude test:

There were 30 - 35 question.

Around 20 were on Java and rest on quants.

Quants questions were taken directly from indiabix

Test was for an hour. So time was not a problem.

(Even if you solve slow there'll be enough time at end to go through your answers)

Technical Interview(Round 1): Went on for an hour.

- TELL ME ABOUT YOURSELF.. Don't expect this ques in tech interview. Got very nervous and started saying anything.

Interviewer noticed that and asked me to calm down. Offered me water and said "now let's start the interview" with a smile.

Started with projects(KNOW YOUR PROJECTS WELL). Interviewer goes through each and every project in your resume.

Questions related to the project were like :

- Tell about the project.

- How did you implement a particular feature many more questions were asked on projects.

- In all my projects I had worked with backend technologies, so he asked me do I know frontend tech or only backend. Then asked me few questions on javascript(Nothing related to syntax). Only basics and where it is used in my projects.

(Speak with examples it's easier to explain.)

Most of the time discussions were on projects.

- Then questions on dbms : sql query, transactions. Only basic questions were asked.

Asked me to draw ER diag. I don't remember the q but was an easy 1. Then asked about primary, foreign keys.

- Questions of OOP concepts. Inheritance, Polymorphism (Explain with examples)

- Sorting techniques. Explain any 1.

- Best sort

- Time complexity.

- Explain time complexity of any sort.

- Favorite subject (Think and give ans to this question). Every interviewer in IVP interview will ask this question.

(Don't say Networking or MP if you are not good at it). Interviewer will definitely ask you questions related to this so say your strong subject even though its not your favorite.

- Few basic questions on data structures. Explain stacks , queues , linkedlist.

- Swap 2 numbers without temp variable.

- Any questions ??

HR Interview (Round 2): Went on fr half n hr

Again started with tell me about yourself?

Then the interviewer was reading my resume n doing sumthing in his phone , he dint say anything fr next 2 3 mins.

This 2 3 mins I was just waiting for the interview to say sumthing.

He was checking a link mentioned in my resume actually existed. He opened my online project and carried on discussion related to it. (So please don't bluff in your resume).

Asked me did I know anything related to finance. I dint know so i asked him will it be a part of our training process. He was kind enough to explain me entire training process.

Any questions??
